

About Us

California Residential Rehabs is a part of a network of addiction recovery sites dedicated to providing information on all facets of alcohol and drug addiction and the road to recovery. Our goal is two-fold: to help people suffering from addiction in finding the treatment they need for their particular addiction and to assist treatment facilities in informing those in need of the types of drug and alcohol treatments available in California. To this end, California Residential Rehabs encourage residential substance abuse treatment programs to add their listing to our directories at no cost. Above all, we strive to bring those seeking help together with the treatment facility or program best suited to their needs, so that they can regain control of their lives.

If you are not specifically a residential rehab facility located in California, we do have other directories that will suit your specific treatment programs. Whether you are another type of California Drug Rehab facility, a Florida Drug Treatment facility, or you specialize in certain treatments such as Suboxone , we have the tools to assist you.
